Jenelle,

We are reviewing Gov. Newsom's recent executive order regarding evictions to try to protect our employees here and there may be an ambiguity. Our interpretation is the recent state-wide order covers all evictions, that is, residential and commercial, which is good. The previous executive order (attached) allowed for local governments to ban commercial evictions due to all this coronavirus madness. Given that there is some ambiguity in today's executive order as to whether it also applies to commercial tenants (in addition to applying to residential tenants), I thought I'd pass it along. We of course would fully support and, indeed, respectfully encourage Lompoc to ban commercial evictions during the pandemic. Thank you for your consideration of this crucial issue.

Kind regards,

dave
