CONCLUSION 38

INTRODUCTION

The City of Lompoc (City) has established a number of standing City commissions and special citizen advisory committees and boards to review City program areas and special community problems in order to provide a greater public input into the city government of Lompoc. This Handbook has been prepared to provide a general idea of the policies, guidelines and responsibilities of committee, commission and board members.

It is hoped this handbook will provide members with the necessary information to understand the basic functions of their commission, committee or board, as well as their role within the organization.

LOMPOC VALLEY HISTORY

ORIGIN OF NAME

The name Lompoc comes from the Chumash; various translations suggest the lakes and lagoons resulting from the spring flooding: "lagoon, little lake."

INDIAN PERIOD

The Chumash Indians lived in small villages, surviving off the sea and the land. They were non-agricultural. Two of their greatest achievements were the design and construction of the plank canoe and the fine workmanship of their baskets.

EXPLORATION

1542 - Expedition by Juan Cabrillo (first white contact with the Indians)

1769 - Don Gaspar De Portala camped with his expedition at the mouth of the Santa Ynez River and found an inviting area about which he wrote in his diary.

MISSION PERIOD

In 1769, King Carlos III of Spain acquired land from San Diego to Monterey for the purpose of building 21 missions and to protect the land from the invading Russians.

In 1787, Mission de la Purisima Concepcion de Maria Santisima was founded. It was built at the end of South "G" Street--just below the hills. Twenty-five years later the Mission was destroyed by an earthquake. Some wall structural remains are still at the site, and a huge, deep crevice can be seen in the hill above the ruins.

The Indians moved across the Valley to the present site, taking 5 years to build and complete the new mission. Unfortunately, white man's diseases wiped out the Indian population and the mission fell to ruin.

The Union Oil Company later owned the land where the Mission ruins lay. In 1933, Union Oil deeded the Purisima Mission site to the county, and a 507-acre State Park was later created. During the 1930's the Civilian Conservation Corps (now known as the California Conservation Corps), the State Park Commission, the National Park Service, and the Department of the Interior restored the mission to its present condition. It is one of the most authentic restorations of an historical landmark in the nation. The restorations were completed in late 1941.

RANCHO PERIOD

In 1837, the Mexican Governor of California gave land to his soldiers as payment for excellent service. In Santa Barbara County, land was divided into 40 Ranchos. In the Lompoc area there were 5.

In the early 1850's, Thomas Wallace More and his brothers A.P. More and H.H. More bought Rancho Lompoc from the Carrillos family. The partnership of Mr. W. W. Hollister, Hubbard Hollister, Albert Diblee, and Thomas Diblee purchased the two Ranchos in 1863 for $60,000.

They also owned most of the Ranchos between Lompoc and Santa Barbara. On this land, they ran thousands of sheep and the floor of the Lompoc Valley was covered with 20,000 sheep grazing on lush grass.

LOMPOC COLONY PERIOD

Mr. W. W. Broughton, a lawyer and newspaperman from Santa Cruz, California, was looking for a place to start a new town. He was unhappy with the drinking problem in the Santa Cruz area, and wanted to start a new town where he could raise his children in a peaceful atmosphere.

In his travels throughout the state, he saw the Lompoc Valley and realized that, because of its beauty, rich soil and excellent climate, this was the dream land he had been looking for. The land was very fertile and would be perfect for farming and raising sheep and cattle.

His town was to be a Temperance Colony – a town where no liquor could be made, consumed or sold. Mr. Broughton organized 100 farmers, ranchers and businessmen from Santa Cruz, Santa Barbara, and San Francisco. They purchased the land, which consisted of all the territory of the Lompoc and Mission Veija de la Purisima Ranchos. It was a total of 46,500 acres, and was purchased on October 19, 1874, at a cost of one half million dollars. These 100 businessmen made up the Lompoc Valley Land Company.

The land was divided into 5, 10, 20, 40 and 80-acre lots and it was to be put up for auction. One square mile would be for the town itself and the rest would be for farmland. One block was set aside for a school (the original site is where El Camino is located). Lots were set aside for churches and fraternal organizations, and a 10-acre section was to be used for a cemetery. Everything was well planned before the auction was ever held.

Mr. Broughton then advertised his land sale in all the newspapers in the Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Jose and Watsonville areas. Families arrived in wagons, which held all their belongings and they lived in tents or the ruins of the first mission while anxiously awaiting the day of the auction. Lots sold fast and furiously.

Five hundred dollars from the land sales was set aside to start a newspaper, because news needed to be sent to the "Easterners" to come West to this wonderful new town. The first auction was so successful that another one was arranged. This time, with his new newspaper, Mr. Broughton was able to advertise throughout the United States. The second sale would be held Monday, April 26, 1875. (Terms of the sale were 15% down with purchase; 15% on the last Monday in December of the first year; and then 10% annually on the last Monday of December of each year.) The average price per acre was $60.00. These people, who now called Lompoc their home, were peaceful, non-drinking, farmers and ranchers. They brought their trades with them. They ran blacksmith shops, harness shops, made wagons and buggies, set up a creamery and ran grocery and drug stores.

LOMPOC COLONY PERIOD (cont'd)

The first two years were great ones. By the end of the first year, 200 families had settled in the valley; school was in session; the stage coach came to town three days a week; there was a post office; a newspaper was being published; the town had a doctor; a five-acre picnic ground had been established in Miguelito Canyon; there were plans for an agricultural college; and plans for a much-needed wharf. The wharf was needed so that butter and cheese and other farm products could be shipped to San Francisco. As it was, wagons were hauling these goods to the Gaviota wharf 22 very-rough miles away. It was the plan of the stock company to set aside a quarter of all proceeds from the land sale for the building of an agricultural college. The wharf was urgently needed and so the money from the college fund was loaned for the building of a wharf – with the idea that the profits from shipping Lompoc goods to San Francisco would repay the loan for the college. Soon after the wharf was completed, disaster struck, and rough seas washed the wharf away. It was rebuilt a couple of times – only to wash away again – along with the dreams of a college. All that was left of the dream is the name of the street where the college was to be built – College Avenue.

Disaster seemed to be the key word following the shattered dreams of a wharf and college. For the next few years, no rain fell, and a damaging drought hit the valley. Animals died by the thousands and many people became discouraged and left. Colonel W.W. Hollister loved the new town and hated seeing these people losing everything they owned just because Mother Nature wasn't cooperating. He and the two Mr. Diblees saved the people and the town from total abandonment by remitting interest charges on the land payments for a few years until the drought had passed.

There were still hard times for four more years – a diphtheria epidemic killed many of the children. However, many of these tough people clung to the rich soil and their new homes, and survived.

The town prospered and in years to come another industry, besides agriculture, developed. This was the mining of diatomaceous earth.

In 1896, the Balaam Family found the largest uniform deposit of pure diatomaceous silica, so far discovered in the world, on their property in Miguelito Canyon. The rights were sold in 1929 to the Johns Manville Corporation. At times, 1,200 people have been employed at one time at the Company. Most of the early employees lived in company housing on the property – which also had a store, a hospital and a school. Manville continues to be one of Lompoc's top industries.

The flower seed industry followed and has probably brought more fame to Lompoc than any other industry. Mr. Burpee from Philadelphia heard of the beautiful flowers growing in the yards of Lompoc residents. He came out to investigate and found it to be true. He first tried growing sweet peas here and because of the rich soil, cool ocean breezes for air pollination, and the long summers, the flowers grew profusely. Later, the sweet pea became the City flower. Today, Lompoc grows 500 varieties of flowers for seed for the world. Two major seed companies plant hundreds of acres of flowers. Lompoc has the distinction of being known as the Flower Seed Capital of the World.

In 1941, 86,000 acres of the Jesus Maria Rancho owned by the Olivera family, just north of Lompoc, was purchased by the Army for an Army base. The name of the new base was Camp Cooke – named for a pioneer cavalry officer. Camp Cooke was to be used for artillery firing and tank maneuvers. It was the first armored training center on the West Coast.

Camp Cooke was at one time a prisoner of war camp. Italian and German prisoners were brought to the camp by ships. It later became a federal penitentiary – built where the United States Penitentiary is now.

After the bombing of Pearl Harbor, there were rumors of enemy submarines off the coast of California. A blimp base was established at the Lompoc Airport for the purpose of spotting submarines. (At that time, the Lompoc Airport was at the site of the Lompoc Shopping Center and Lompoc High School).

Camp Cooke was reactivated for two and a half years after the outbreak in Korea. In 1956, the Air Force took over Camp Cooke for the purpose of launching missiles from the West Coast, and on December 26, 1958, the first missile was sent soaring into space. The name of the new facility was changed from Cooke Air Force Base to Vandenberg Air Force Base to honor the late General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, second Air Force Chief of Staff and early proponent of aerospace preparedness.

By 1944, Lompoc had grown to over 5,000 people. Four years after the Air Force's takeover of the base in 1957, Lompoc's population had grown to more than 20,000. By 1988 the population was more than 32,300. The little farm community would be no more.

MEMBERSHIP

Appointment

Applications for commission, committee, and board appointments must be submitted to the City Clerk's Office. A separate application is required for each body to which the applicant is seeking appointment. Applications are maintained by the City Clerk's Office in an active status for one year at which time they become inactive and new applications must be submitted.

Generally, the appointment process is for each commission, committee, and board to be nominated by a Council Member, which shall take place upon commencement of that Member's term of office. The appointee must be approved by the majority of the Council Members. Further details and requirements for nomination and appointment of members of commissions committees, and boards are contained in the respective ordinance or resolution for each body.

Appointment to a City commission, committee, or board is recognition of expertise and interest in a specific area as well as an honor bestowed upon a citizen. Members of an advisory body serve at the pleasure of the City Council and may be removed from office at the Council's discretion.

Eligibility

Aside from the following exceptions, all applicants must reside within City limits. Exceptions to eligibility include: Two members of the Airport Commission may live outside the City limits if their primary residence is located within the boundaries of the Lompoc Unified School District (LUSD). One member of the Library Commission may live outside the City limits if they live within Santa Barbara County Library Zone 2 (Lompoc and Vandenberg Village area). At least three-fifths of the Economic Development Committee Members must reside within the 93436 zip code. Youth members (between ages 15 and 21) of the Youth Commission must live within the LUSD boundaries; however, at no time shall the majority of the Youth Commission reside outside the City limits.

City employees are not eligible to apply. Except as otherwise may be expressly provided in the Handbook or the document adopted by the Council establishing a board, commission or committee, membership on City boards, commissions, and committees shall be limited to service on one standing board, at any one time.

Oath of Office

Prior to the date each term begins, Appointees must be sworn in by the City Clerk, sign a Certificate of Appointment and sign an Oath of Office. If an Appointee is reappointed, then a new Oath of Office will be administered.

Ethical Principles

Attached to the application is a copy of the Statement of Ethical Principles Applicable to Local Government which sets forth certain principles for the proper operation of democratic government to assure that the public have confidence in the integrity of its government and public officials. Effective January 1, 2006, state law (AB 1234) required that local officials must receive training in public service ethics laws and principles every two years. New officials/commission members must receive this ethics training within one year of appointment. The AB 1234 ethics-training requirement applies to all board members, commissioners, and committee members.

Term of Service

The terms are for a period of four years with the exception of the Library Commission, which is for three years, and the Youth Commission which is two years. Except the committee members nominated by City Council Members, appointments are for overlapping, balanced terms commencing on the first day of February of the year of appointment or for the balance of the term of a predecessor. The other exception is Human Services Commissioners whose terms commence on the first day of July of the year of appointment.

Term of office for members of the commissions by nomination of City Council Members expire concurrently with the term of the Council Member responsible for that Commission member's nomination and ultimate appointment. All commission, committee and board members will serve until their successors have been appointed by the City Council and qualified.

Attendance

Members unable to attend meetings must advise the Chairperson or staff person assigned to the board, commission or committee. If any member misses three consecutive regular meetings, without permission, then that office becomes vacant.

Removal

Any member of a board, commission or committee may be removed from office by a majority vote of the City Council.

Resignation

If an appointee resigns from office before the end of the term, then a letter announcing the resignation shall be forwarded to the Mayor. Copies will be forwarded to the City Council, the City Manager, City Clerk, and the board, commission, or committee Chairperson.

Vacancy

When a vacancy occurs, a notice will be posted and applications solicited. All active applications for that commission, committee, or board will be forwarded to the City Council for review. When there is at least one qualified applicant, the appointment will be scheduled for the next City Council meeting. An applicant is appointed to fill that vacancy by the affirmative vote of the majority of the City Council. Appointments made during the middle of a term are usually for the unexpired portion of that term.

Vacancies occurring on the Beautification and Appearance, Human Services, Parks and Recreation, Planning, Public Safety and Utility Commissions during an unexpired term will be selected in the same manner provided for in the appointment section. Vacancies on the City Council occurring during a term of office of a Council Member shall not automatically terminate the commissioner nominated by the departing Council Member (Ord. No. 1504(04)).

Compensation

Commission, committee, and board members do not receive compensation or benefits of any kind.

Incidental Expenses

All operational expenses of the commission, committee or board shall be approved by the City Council and such funds budgeted for this purpose shall be included within the City's budget. Actual and necessary expenditures incurred by members, while engaged on official commission, committee or board business, may be reimbursed, provided such expenditures have been previously approved by the department head responsible for staffing the commission, committee or board. It should be noted spouses who wish to accompany members on authorized trips will not be covered for any such expenses.

ORGANIZATION

Regular Meetings

Regular meetings are held for most commissions, committees, and boards with the exception of the Mobilehome Rent Stabilization Board, the Citizens Committee to Oversee the Park Maintenance and City Pool Assessment District (No. 2002-01), and Compliance Committee (FOR SUB-RECIPIENT FINANCIAL, PROGRAMMATIC, AND MONITORING REPORTING POLICY), which meet on an as-needed basis.

Adjourned Regular Meetings

If for any reason the business to be considered at the regular meeting cannot be completed, then the body may then adjourn to a specified time and location. A notice announcing the adjournment must be posted in the standard location within 24 hours after the time of adjournment.

Special Meetings

Special meetings are those called by the advisory body in order to discuss an important issue that needs to be addressed immediately. Written notice, signed by the Chairperson calling the special meeting and describing the items to be discussed, shall be received by members, the local media and posted in City Hall at least 24 hours in advance of the convening of the special meeting. The notice must state the time and place of the meeting and identify the business to be transacted and only the business set forth in the notice may be considered at the meeting.

Subcommittees

Committees may form ad hoc committees as appropriate when a particular issue or project would lend itself to involving members from various committees. Subcommittees may discuss how each committee could become more effective and address other appropriate concerns. The subcommittee or ad hoc committee shall report their findings to the City Council.

Annual Reports

Each Committee shall submit an annual report to the City Council, suitable to its activities' schedule or as provided in the LMC or other provisions. The annual report should include the number of meetings, approximate number of citizens attending, accomplishments for the year, goals for the next year, and any other significant areas of which the City Council should be aware.

Biennial Review of Committees

Every two years, the City Council should review each Committee to provide the following: recognize their efforts, assess accomplishments for the prior two years, suggest future goals consistent with the designated functions, and provide any other appropriate guidance.

Joint Meetings with City Council

Joint meetings with the City Council and boards, commissions, and committees will be scheduled when appropriate generally following the biennial review to give the members appropriate directions, etc.

Ralph M. Brown Act

The Brown Act insures all meetings, including commission, committee, and board meetings, are open to the public. Orientation materials relating to Conflicts of Interest, Brown Act and related matters are available from the City Attorney's Office.

Informal Public Hearings

An informal public hearing is one which is not required by law but which is called in order to give the public special notice and opportunity to comment on a subject. The commission, committee, or board can set rules for notifying the public of an informal hearing, establish a time frame, and conduct the hearing in any fair way it chooses.

Formal Public Hearings

A formal public hearing is one that must be conducted according to State or City laws, rules or regulations and is designed to solicit comment from the general public. An official Notice of Public Hearing will be published in a local paper of general circulation.

Hearing Procedures

Hearings held by an advisory body should be fair and impartial. If a member is biased or has a personal interest in the outcome of the hearing, then that member should disqualify himself/herself and not participate.

Persons or groups who may be affected by the subject of the hearing should be given sufficient notice of the time and place of the hearing and a reasonable opportunity to be heard. They may be represented by counsel and be permitted to present oral and documentary evidence. They should also be permitted to rebut any statements made by others.

At the appropriate time, the Chairperson should open the hearing and explain to the audience the hearing procedures. If there are numerous persons who would like to participate, and all represent the same views and opinions, then the Chairperson may ask a spokesperson be selected to speak for the group. If that arrangement cannot be made, then the Chairperson may restrict each speaker to a limited time (generally five minutes) so all may be heard. Irrelevant and off-the-subject comments should be ruled out of order by the Chairperson.

The usual procedure after the hearing has been opened is for staff to present the staff report, followed by members' questions relating to the report. Proponents would be given the opportunity to present their case first. That is followed by an opportunity for opponents to present their case. After all interested persons have had an opportunity to speak, the hearing is closed, ending audience participation. Commission, committee, or board members may discuss the proposal and take an action on the proposal.

Motions

When a member wishes to propose an idea for the board to consider, the member must make a motion. A motion goes through the following steps:

- A. The member asks to be recognized by the Chairperson.
- B. After being recognized, the member makes the motion (I move...).
- C. Another member seconds the motion.
- D. When the Chairperson feels there has been sufficient discussion, the debate is closed.
- E. If no one asks for permission to speak, then the Chairperson puts the question to vote.
- F. After the vote, the Chairperson announces the decision.

Adjournment

When a commission, committee, or board has finished its business, a motion to adjourn is in order. That motion is not debatable; therefore, it is the duty of the Chairperson to be sure no important business is overlooked.

If the body wishes to meet before the next regularly scheduled meeting, then a motion may be made to adjourn the meeting to a designated time and place.

Agenda

At least 72 hours before a regular meeting, an agenda shall be publicly posted which specifies the time and location of the meeting and contains a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting.

In accordance with the Ralph M. Brown Act, no action or discussion may be taken on an item that has not been placed on the agenda except as provided otherwise in the Government Code.

Placing Business on the Agenda

Agenda items are limited to those business matters within the commission, committee, or board's subject matter jurisdiction.

Any item within the commission, committee, or board's jurisdiction may be placed on an agenda by a majority of the members of the commission, committee, or board, the City Manager, or the staff liaison for the commission, committee, or board. However, an item will not be placed on a future commission agenda if it requires the expenditure of a significant amount of public funds to prepare for the item, unless the City Council first authorizes that expenditure. In that circumstance, the commission, committee, or board may vote to request that the City Council authorize the placement of the item on the commission, committee, or board's future agenda. Only the City Council has the authority to spend public funds or to authorize others to spend public funds.

During a meeting, any member of the commission, committee, or board may request an item be placed on a future agenda for the commission, committee, or board. Outside of a meeting, if a member of a commission, committee, or board intends to make a request at an upcoming meeting that an item be placed on a future agenda, the member may inform City staff of the member's intent to make the request. If there are no items on the agenda for the upcoming meeting, then the meeting shall nevertheless be held in order to allow the member to request the future agenda item, so long as the member notifies staff of the intent to request a future agenda item at least five (5) working days prior to the date of the upcoming meeting. If there are no items on the agenda for the upcoming meeting, and staff is not notified of an intent to request a future agenda item by the end of the fifth day prior to the date of the upcoming meeting, then the upcoming meeting may be cancelled for lack of agenda items. Failure to give staff prior notice of an intent to request a future agenda item does not prevent a member of a commission, committee, or board from requesting a future agenda item during a meeting of the commission, committee, or board.

Minutes

Minutes of all meetings must be kept and prepared by staff. Written minutes, upon approval by the commission, committee or board, constitute the official record of its activities. Additions and correction of the minutes may be made only in public meetings, with the approval of the body, and not by the private request of individual members. It is the policy of the City Council that minutes are not verbatim. They are, instead, action minutes, recording the essence of the decisions made and significant action taken.

It is the responsibility of the staff liaison to forward copies of the agenda, related reports and minutes to the City Council where one set will be maintained in the Council office.

Agenda Packets

Agenda packets detailing the items of business to be discussed and any communications to be presented will be prepared by the staff and delivered to the members of the body at least 72 hours before the meeting, unless urgent circumstances require later delivery. In order to be prepared for meetings, members should read these packets and contact the Chairperson if there are any questions regarding information presented in the staff reports.

All Agenda packets are to be posted to the City of Lompoc website with a hard copy of the complete packet held in the lobby of Lompoc City Hall at least 72 hours before the meeting, unless urgent circumstances require later posting. There shall be no less than 12 months of hard copies of agenda packets held in well-marked binders in the lobby of Lompoc City Hall.

Conflict of Interest

The Political Reform Act was enacted by the State of California by an initiative, known as Proposition 9, in 1974. One of the Act's main purposes is to prevent financial conflicts of interest on the part of public officials. The Political Reform Act requires every public official to disclose all financial interest, such as investments, interests in real estate or sources of income, which may possibly affect by the exercise of the public official's official duties. If a public official has a conflict of interest, the Political Reform Act may require the official to disqualify themselves from making or participating in a governmental decision, or using their official position to influence a governmental decision.

A Conflict of Interest occurs when: a public official makes, participates in, or uses their official position to influence a governmental decision; it is foreseeable that decision will affect the official's financial interest; the effect of the decision on the official's financial interest will be material; and the effect of the decision on the official's financial interest will be distinguishable from its effect on the public generally.

Officers

Meetings shall be scheduled in February of each year to elect a Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson. The Human Services Commission shall meet in July to elect a Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson. Elected officers shall hold office for a period of one year and until a successor has been appointed. The Chairperson shall be presiding officer at all meetings and the Vice-Chairperson shall act as presiding officer in the Chairperson's absence. The City Manager shall appoint appropriate staff members to serve as secretary and advisor.

Role of the Chairperson

It is incumbent upon the Chairperson of the commission, committee, or board to ascertain the responsibility of their advisory body and to limit the discussion and deliberation to appropriately assigned areas of responsibility.

The Chairperson exists to encourage the input of ideas, to guide discussions in a logical and orderly fashion, and to facilitate the overall decision-making process. The Chairperson should clarify ideas as they are discussed and repeat motions made in order that all members fully understand the working of the item on which they are voting.

The Chairperson and the staff should be in contact prior to each regularly scheduled meeting in order to review and discuss the agenda.

RELATIONS

Relations with City Council

The primary responsibility of commissions, committees, and boards is to advise and make recommendations to the City Council. It is the Council's role to absorb the advice and recommendations offered by numerous sources and to make decisions to the best of its ability. Because the City Council is in such a position to see the broader context and is aware of other concerns, it may not always follow the recommendation offered by individual commissions, committees, and boards.

If a board, commission, or committee wishes to express a position on a particular project, program, or legislation relative to their general duties that position should be forwarded to the City Council for appropriate consideration. This includes both written and/or oral statements. This policy does not apply to matters which the board, commission, or committee has direct authority for as set forth by the LMC or state law. (Of course, this policy is not intended to deny committee members their right as an individual citizen to express their own viewpoints.)

Each Council Member will select two or three committees on which to serve as a liaison to the Council. Council Members are encouraged to occasionally attend the meetings of each Council Advisory Body. Rotation schedule for Council Members serving as liaisons to commissions will be given to Council by the City Clerk annually. The Staff or Committee will remind the Council Member of the next meeting or follow-up regarding significant issues. Council Member/liaison will then report to Council concerning the Committee meetings.

Relations with the Public

Advisory group members are encouraged to become aware of public opinion relating to their field of influence. They should welcome citizen input at meetings and ensure that the rules and procedures for these public hearings are clearly understood.

The members should conduct themselves at public meetings in a manner that is fair, understanding, and gracious. The members should be considerate of all interests, attitudes, and differences of opinion. They should also take care to observe their appearance as well as the principle of impartiality. The members shall not accept gifts from applicants or other persons concerned with matters, which have been or might come before the commission, committee, or board.

Relations with City Staff

Staff is assigned by the City Manager or Department Head to assist the advisory groups to effectively carry out their duties and responsibilities. Staff is to be considered an information source on City programs and activities and will provide advice, data and suggestions as requested. The amount of staff time assigned shall be reasonable and generally will not exceed two meetings per month. Reports to the City Council from commissions, committees, and/or boards will always represent the viewpoint and include the majority position of the advisory body.

In general, the City Council sets City policy, priorities and fees and provides direction to the City Manager. The City Manager is responsible for implementation of Council direction and assigns workload and tasks to City staff. Staff utilizes City boards, commissions and committees to obtain input on operations and to obtain public comment on controversial items. Operational approval is given by the City Manager (or designee) and all board, commission and committee input remains advisory. Work assignments to carry out the City Council's directions normally flow from the City Manager to the City staff to the boards, commissions and committees. The City Manager (or designee) is solely responsible for selecting the manner and method of implementing City Council policy and priorities. The City Manager (or designee) has the authority to create the necessary rules and regulations for efficient operation.

If differences of opinion exist between staff and the advisory body, then staff will identify those differences in the report to the City Council, which has responsibility for making the final decision.

The City Council expects a mutually respectful and professional relationship to be maintained between the staff personnel and advisory board members. However, should a difference of opinion or conflict arise between an individual member and staff, the Chairperson should try to mediate the issue. If the problem cannot be resolved, the Chairperson should bring the matter to the attention of the head of the department to address the matter. If the problem remains unresolved, then the matter will be referred to the City Manager, and, if necessary, the City Council.

COMMISSION, COMMITTEE AND BOARD EFFECTIVENESS

Commission, committee, and board meetings are the time and place for decisions and actions. The quality of those decisions, and the resultant impact on the community, is the responsibility of each member. Each has an obligation to prepare, discuss, evaluate, review, and select the best possible alternatives. The following guidelines lead to constructive meetings:

COOPERATION

Organized groups exist to complete certain tasks and to achieve certain agreed upon purposes and goals. Effective Conflict Management

Public hearings or citizen input meetings can be difficult to manage. Participants are usually highly motivated and often nervous. When you have a group of potential adversaries in one room, the possibility of uncontrolled conflict may be very high. At commission, committee, and board meetings, your role is to guide conflict to positive results, not to eliminate it.

MANAGING CONFLICT

The following suggestions should help manage conflict and confrontation effectively:

- * Anticipate conflicts by doing your homework so you can concentrate on the dynamics of the meeting rather than learning about the topic at hand.
- * Treat all sides fairly. Set the rules of the hearing early and make sure everyone abides by them without exception.
- * Explain carefully the purpose of the public hearing and what action is expected at the end of the hearing. Insistence on playing by the rules is your best tool for conflict management.
- * It is preferable for persons speaking to identify themselves, not only for the record, but also so you may address them by name; however, this is not a requirement.
- * Set an acceptable time limit for testimony (generally three minutes) and stick to it.
- * Make decisions promptly. Many boards can get so bogged down in procedural distractions, petty details, and endless searches for more information the issue never seems to get resolved.
- * Try not to overreact to inflammatory comments. Most are expressions of frustration and do not require answers. Try to turn frustration to constructive avenues. Ask questions. Be specific if you can. Reinforce areas where you agree. Do not return insult for insult. Your insults can turn the audience against you for your lack of control and unfairness.
- * Try to avoid speaker-to-audience conversation. The purpose of a hearing is for your commission, committee, or board to receive direct public input, not to engage in debate with the public speakers.
- * If other members have questions of the speaker, then permit those questions only during the speaker's time at the podium.
- * Use the hearing to gather necessary information about the project and individual desires concerning the proposal. Refrain from stating comments and or asking questions that might express your position until after testimony has ended.
- * Once testimony has ended each member should be invited to discuss his or her views on the proposal.
- * View the public hearing as an example of basic democracy in action at the local level. Make it your personal goal to make the public hearing work.
